FIRE IN PITTSBURG.

A DISASTROUS CONFLAGRATION THREATENED.

Special to the star.

PITTSBURG, June 19.—A fire broke out this morning and is still raging, which promises, unless speedily checked, to prove a very disastrous conflagration. It commenced in the large six-story factory of James Bow & Sons, on Virgin Alley, completely gutting it and also their hardware and gunstors, on Wood street. The office of the Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine Company is on fire, and Behr's wholesale confectionery and Burchfield's hardware store are threatened.

The First Presbyterian Church, Trinity Episcopal Church, and the Second National Bank building are also in great danger, as is the office of the Post newspaper.

It is now feared that the fire from the factory on Virgin Alley, will communicate to the large store on Fifth avenue, the rear of which extends back towards the alley. The loss falls heavily on the firm of James Bow & Sons, and whatever may be the insurance, which can not yet be ascertained, the fire will be a severe blow, as the senior member, not long ago, lost so heavily by the suspension of the Citizens' Oil Refinery, that he was compelled to go into bankruptcy.

LATER.

The fire is now out, but no accurate estimate of the damage can be made. The Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine Company's office and B. H. Thalheimer's general store were damaged considerably, mostly by water. The loss is put at from $75,000 to $100,000. Insurance not yet known.

NEW YORK NEWS.

SOME OPINIONS FROM AN OLD POLITICIAN.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Ex-Senator Bayard, of Delaware, for more than forty years an active politician, is now at the New York Hotel, much interested in health.

In an interview last evening, he stated he had virtually withdrawn from political life. Most of his old colleagues were dead, and age prevented him from mixing in active politics.

He contemplated, with fear and anxiety, the spread of corruption in both parties. He expressed deep reverence for the old constitutional principles which prescribed a limitation of powers, and abhored the interference of the Federal Government in the internal improvements.

The abandonment of the old principles, Tilden's corruption, and Garfield's iniquities with railroads or other means which could be left to individual initiative, will ultimately lead to its destruction.

He believed it was a great mistake to give the right of suffrage to the negro race. They are immature full of passions without deliberation or argumentative power and become an easy prey of political demagogues.

They did not expect the right of suffrage, but they were worthy of equal rights before the laws. Referring to Grant's letter, Bayard's opinion was that Grant would take a third-term nomination if he can get it, and would use some force in the Southern States if he saw a chance of success; but Grant is not to.

Should the fall elections go against the administration, nothing more will be heard of the third term. If they go otherwise, Grant will be the Republican candidate for President next year.

NEW YORK, June 19.—The Washington Light Infantry, of Charleston, S. C., arrived this morning from Boston, accompanied by the Old Guard. They reached the city at 10 o'clock and were escorted up Broadway to the headquarters of the Old Guard, where a splendid collation was prepared for them. ## The Principals' Association.

The Principals' Association met this morning at ten o'clock in the Library Building, with President Sherwood in the chair.

The members of the Association assumed the discussion of the report of the Committee on Moral Instruction. This report underwent a furious assault, both at the last meeting and at that of this morning.

Mr. Royce moved to substitute for the following resolution that the teachers pledge themselves to prescribe a course of instruction in morals and manners.

The resolution was laid over till the disposal of the report. The great tussle of the day was whether the teachers should "inspire" good morals into the pupils by the so called "incidentalism," or by a direct instruction, setting a certain time aside for giving this instruction as was recommended by Mr. Dilley, the chairman of the Committee.

All of the members, except a few, concurred with the report, and induced it to save some of the first taken as merely hollow or extravagant edifices by the chairman of the committee. Some of the principals were in favor of throwing out almost every branch of instruction rather than not have any moral instructions, whether incidentally or otherwise, by which the public schools were raising good men and women. A motion was made to take up the recommendations separately. Lost.

A vote was then taken on the whole, and the report rejected by 28 to 10.

Mr. Royce offered the following:

Whereas, The Principal in our Public Schools is instructed by the Board of Education with preparing for his assistant teacher a manner for imparting moral instruction to pupils; and whereas, by virtue of regulations 141 and 142 of the Board, the habits, character, deportment and health of the pupil should be made a matter of particular inquiry on the part of both Principals and teachers; therefore,

Resolved, That we, the Principals of the Public Schools of Cincinnati, recognizing the paramount importance of instructions calculated for accomplishing the above and do pledge ourselves to the preparation and to the enforcement of a definite course of study for teacher and pupil on morale and health.

Resolved, secondly, That such lessons be in the place previously occupied by the programme of daily exercises by Scripture readings. Lost.

A resolution was then offered, as follows: That, from the best information at hand, notwithstanding all statements to the contrary, as contained in the report of the Committee on Moral Instruction, it is the belief of the Principals' Association that moral instruction has been and is carefully and conscientiously given in our public schools. Lost.
